

Association for Struggle against Sexual Violence

Who Are We ?

Although our association was officially founded in the summer of 2014, we have advanced and expanded in our struggle against sexual violence since 2009 through our initiatives and regular meetings as activists of Women's Platform Against Sexual Violence (CSKKP).

We are trans and non-trans women, trans men and gender non-conforming individuals of various sexual orientations, questioning the gender binarism and actively participating in the feminist, lgbti+, ecological and animal liberation movements and children and immigrant rights organizations and platforms. As an anti-hierarchical organization, we defend queer imagination, feminisms, solidarity and collective production.

NEREDE?

We aim to empower those who have been exposed to sexual violence, survivors of sexual violence, and their relatives through the work we carry out within the scope of the Empowerment and Support Program to reduce sexual/sexualized violence and the damage it causes.

Through Guidance and Support Activities, we provide counseling to survivors on sexual/sexualized violence issues, guidance for psychological support and legal support.

In csdestek.org prepared for survivors of sexual violence, there are topics such as seeking support after different types of sexual violence, the process of reporting violence or coping with psychological processes and mechanisms that clamp on us after the violence as well as the Istanbul Units Map with the contact information and service areas of institutions providing services to survivors in Istanbul.

On the other hand, within the scope of empowerment and support activities, we carry out communication and cooperation work to boost the capacities of municipalities, units, and employees that provide support services to survivors of sexual violence.

What Do We Do?

Advocacy and Corporate Communication Program

Sexual violence concerns everyone.

With the Advocacy and Corporate Communication Program, we aim to increase the transformation of social perceptions and practices that lead to sexual/sexualized violence, and we advocate for social transformation.

Within the scope of our Corporate Advocacy and Network Activities, we participate in national and international networks, take part in campaigns with other organizations, meet institutions and people who will influence the decision-making mechanisms, and build public opinion through the media and social media channels.

As part of the Legal Advocacy headline, we continue to monitor human rights violations of the survivors of sexual violence.

Under the Media-related Activities through which we expect an increase in the transformation of social perception and practices that lead to sexual/ sexualized violence, we provide the press members with the information, tools, and materials about the rights-based approach and gender equality in their coverage of sexual violence cases. We continue our work on the websites oyledegilboyle.org, which contains information for the dissemination of rights-based journalism in news of sexual violence, and csgorselarsiv.org, which contains free rights-based stock images that can be used by journalists.
